                    This sequence represents a human secreted protein of the invention. The extended CDNAs (or genomic DNAs obtainable from them) may be used to prepare PCR primers and probes. These are useful for forensic matching positive identification by DNA sequencing. They may also be used in alternative fingerprint identification techniques. Antibodies against proteins encoded by the extended cDNAs are useful in identification of this tissue types or cell species, as well as identifying tissue specification of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control o

Other sequences derived from the extended cDNAs can be used to clone upstream genomic DNA sequences including promoters. This is in turn useful for identifying proteins that interact with promoter sequences. Some of the proteins may be useful in diagnosing and treating several disorders including, but not limited to: cancer, hyperlipidaemia, cardiovascular and neurodegenerative disorders, autoimmune diseases, and rheumatic diseases, embryogenic disorders, hypertension, renal injury, amino acidurias, hypoglycaemia, male rat infertility and myopathies.

The invention provides membrane-bound PRO polypeptides and polynucleotides encoding them. The PRO sequences of the invention were identified based on extracellular domain homology screening. The PRO sequences have homology with proteins including LDL receptors TIE ligands and various enzymes. The membrane-bound proteins and receptor molecules are useful as pharmaceutical and diagnostic agents. Receptor immunoadhesins, for instance, can be used as therapeutic agents to block receptor-ligand interactions. The membrane-bound proteins can also be employed for screening of potential peptide or small molecule inhibitors of the relevant receptor/ligand interaction. The PRO encoding sequences are useful as hybridization probes, in chromosome and gene mapping and in the generation of antisense RNA and DNA. PRO nucleic acid sequences will also be useful for the preparation of PRO polypeptides, especially by recombinant rechairms.

The PRO polypeptides are useful to detect other CRO polypeptides, to link bioactive molecules to cells expressing CC PRO polypeptides, to modulate biological activities of cells expressing CC PRO polypeptides, and to detect the presence of mammalian lung, colon, CC polypeptides, and to detect the presence of mammalian lung, colon, CC polypeptides, and to detect the presence of mammalian lung, colon, CC polypeptide expression in a cell sample to that in a control sample. CC some of the 275 sequences are also useful to stimulate the release of cumour necrosis factor-alpha (TNF-alpha) from human blood, the CC proliferation or differentiation of chondrocytes, the proliferation or cartilage, the proliferation of inner ear utricular supporting cells or cartilage, the proliferation of inner ear utricular supporting cells or of T-lymphocytes, the release of a cytokine from peripheral blood concoytes (PBMCs), or the proliferation of endothelial cells. Some of the PRO polypeptides may modulate glucose or free fatty acid uptake by CC skeletal muscle cells or by adipocytes; or inhibit binding of A-peptide colors involved in binding interactions. The polymplocytes enable used to generate probes, antisense RNA/DNA, CC transgenic or knock out animals and can be used in gene therapy.

The PRO proteins have cytostatic activity. The PRO proteins can be used for targeted delivery of bloactive molecules, such as texins, radiolabels or antibodies, that cause cell death. PRO nucleotide sequences, and their fragments, can be used as hybridisation probes, in chromosomal and gene mapping, and in the generation of anti-sense RNA and DNA. They may also be used to produce transgenic animals which are used to develop and screen therapeutically useful reagents. The PRO nucleotide and protein sequence can be used for tissue typing and in treating causer. Anti-PRO antibodies can be used in diagnostic assays. ARF44770 to ARF4470 represent PCR primers and hybridisation probes used in the isolation of human PRO sequences. REPRESENTED IN TO THE PROPERTIES AND THE PROPERTIES

The present invention relates to the isolation of novel human PRO CC polypeptides, and the polymucleotide sequences encoding them. The CR PRO polypeptides are useful for detecting other PRO polypeptides, for clinking bloactive molecules to cells expressing PRO polypeptides, for clinking bloactive molecules to cells expressing PRO polypeptides, for for modulating biological activities of cells expressing PRO polypeptides, and for for identifying agonists or antagonists. The PRO polypeptides are useful for for stimulating the release of tumour necrosis factor (TNF)-alpha from human blood, for stimulating the proliferation or differentiation of chondrocytes, and detecting the propeptides are useful for the muman blood, for stimulating the presence of tumours. The polymucleotide sequences encoding PRO polypeptides are useful as hybridisation probes, in chromosome and copylogopides are useful as hybridisation probes, in chromosome and copylogopides are useful as hybridisation probes, in chromosome and copylogopides are useful as hybridisation probes, in chromosome and copylogopides, and in gene therapy. ABU6670-ABU66844 represent the human copylogopides of the invention.

CC disorders, and in gene therapy. ABU66874 represent the human copylogopides of the invention.

CC polypeptides are useful as hybridisation with genetic copylogopides of the invention.

atherosclerosis, cardia aging, AIDS, or cancer designated secreted and transmembrane nucleic acids and polypeptides, ignated as PRO, useful for treating inflammation, organ failure, eroscleosis, cardiac injury, infertility, birth defects, premature Claim 12; 5,5 522; 659pp; English.

The invention relates to an isolated nucleic acid comprising, or which is CC at least 80% identical to, or the full-length coding sequence of, any of the 275 nucleotide sequences, encoding the corresponding PRO polypeptide CC (one of 275 secreted or transmembrane proteins). The nucleic acid CC under American Type Culture Collection (ATCC) accession number in a list CC given in the specification. Also included are vectors and host CC given in the specification. Also included are vectors and host CC cells for producing PRO proteins, methods for stimulating the release of CC TNF-alpha (tumour necrosis factor alpha) from human blood, CC antibodies, PRO extracellular domains and mature sequences, methods CC in the proliferation of differentiation of chondrocyte cells, the proliferation of of sectors alpha) from human blood, CC and the proliferation of differentiation of inner ear unticular CC supporting cells, the proliferation of representation of inner ear unticular CC supporting cells, the proliferation of relymphocyte cells, the release or G1 success or free factor MIA, a method for modulating the uptake CC of a cytokine from peripheral blood mononuclear cells (PBMC), or the CC proliferation of endothelial cells), a method for modulating the uptake CC or the differentiation of adipocyte cells, a method for detecting the collypeptides are useful for treating inflammatory diseases, organ CC premature arise and all control inflammatory diseases, organ CC promature are useful for treating inflammatory diseases, organ control and control of c premature diabetic (atherosclerosis, cardiac injury, infertility, birth e aging, AIDS (acquired immunodeficiency syndrome), c ne), cancer, or hybridisation

The polypeptides are useful as pharmaceuticals, diagnostics, biosensors or bioreactors. Both are useful in tissue typing. The present sequence represents a PRO protein of the invention.

The PRO CC polypeptides are useful in detecting PRO polypeptides in a sample, in C linking a bioactive molecule to a cell expressing a PRO polypeptide, and CC in modulating at least one biological activity of a cell expressing a PRO colypeptide. CC PRO136 and pRO1387 induce o-fos in endothelial cells, and are thus consequently the properties of this polypeptide are consequently for treating conditions or disorders where angiogenesis would be beneficial, e.g. wound healing and antagonist of this polypeptide are cuseful for treating cancerous tumours. PRO812 inhibits vascular cells and is thus useful for inhibiting endothelial cell growth in cells and is thus useful for inhibiting endothelial cell growth in cells and is thus useful for inhibiting throur growth. PRO826, PRO168, PRO1184, PRO1346 and PRO1375 stimulate proliferation of endothelial cells which would be beneficial in inhibiting throur growth. PRO826, PRO168, PRO1184, PRO1346 and PRO1375 stimulate proliferation of certinal neurons cells (PRO1132 is also enhances survival/proliferation of crod photoreceptor cells) and therefore are useful for treating retinal cell disorders of injuries, e.g. retinitis pigmentosum, AMD. PRO813, PRO813 cand therefore are useful for treating thing wesangial cells (and therefore are useful for treating thing providers associated with decreased mesangial cell function such as Berger disease or other caphropathies associated with dermeatitis, herpetiformis or Crohn's cellsease. PRO1310, PRO844, PRO1312, PRO1122 and PRO1387 induce the comparation and/or redifferentiation of chondrocytes in culture and certain useful for treating sports injuries, and arthritis. This certain amino acid sequence of a novel human PRO protein.

The PRO polypeptides are useful in detecting PRO polypeptides in a sample, in polypeptides are useful in detecting PRO polypeptides in a sample, in linking a bioactive molecule to a cell expressing a PRO polypeptide, and in modulating at least one biological activity of a cell expressing a PRO polypeptide. PRO1312 stimulates hypertrophy of neonatal heart and is thus useful for treating cardiac insufficiency disorders. PRO1154 and PRO186 stimulate adrenal cortical capillary endothelial growth, and PRO536, PRO943, PRO828, PRO826, PRO1068 or PRO535, PRO826, PRO819, PRO1126, polymuclectides are also useful in gene therapy, in chromosome polymuclectides are also useful in gene therapy, in chromosome polymetrication, as chromosome markers, or in generating probes. The PRO polymetrides are useful as molecular markers for protein electrophoresis, and the isolated mucleic acids may be used for recombinantly expressing those markers. The PRO polymetrides and nucleic acids may also be used in tissue typing, Anti-PRO antibodies are useful in diagnostic assays for PRO, and in affinity purification of PRO from recombinant cell culture or natural sources. The sequences presented in ABUG0478-ABUG0624 are the PRO polymucleotides of the invention. Note: The sequence data for this patent is also available in electronic format from USPTO at seqdata.uspto.gov/sequence.html.

The polypeptides can be used to raise antibodies that specifically bind to the PRO polypeptide, for linking a bioactive molecule to a cell expressing a PRO protein and for modulating at least one biological activity of a cell. polynucleotides are also useful as pharmaceuticals, diagnostics, biosensors or bioreactors, for detecting or treating e.g. tumours in mammals, e.g. humans, dogs, catts, cattle, horses, sheep, pigs, goats or rabbits as targets for therapeutic intervention in certain cancers (e.g. colon, lung or breast cancers) and diagnostic determination of the presence of these cancers The PRO polypeptides are also useful as molecular weight markers or for chromosome identification. The PRO genes are useful as hybridisation probes or for screening libraries of human cDNA, genomic DNA or meNA. The PRO genes may also be used in gene therapy, particularly for replacing a defective gene. The sequences presented in ABU58900-ABU59046 are the PRO polypeptides of the invention.

The polypeptides can be used to raise antibodies that specifically bind to the PRO polypeptide, for linking a bioactive molecule to a cell expressing a PRO protein and for modulating at least one biological activity of a cell. CC polypeptides, and the polymucleotide sequences encoding them. The CC prolypeptides are secreted and transmembrane proteins. The PRO CC prolypeptides are useful for detecting other PRO polypeptides, for CC linking bloactive molecules to cells expressing PRO polypeptides, for CC linking bloactive molecules to cells expressing PRO polypeptides, for CC polypeptides, and for for identifying agonists or antagonists. CC polypeptides, and for for identifying agonists or antagonists. CC polypeptides, and for for identifying agonists or antagonists. CC polypeptides, and for for monosome and gene mapping, in the generation of antisense RNA and DNA, in the preparation of PRO polypeptides, for CC generating transgenic animals or knockout animals, to construct CC phyridisation probes for mapping the gene which encodes the PRO cC disorders, in gene therapy, for chromosome identification, as CC disorders, in gene therapy, for chromosome identification, as CC chromosome markers, and for generating probes for PCR, Northern CC chromosome markers, and for generating probes for PCR, Northern CC crace in the sequence data for this patent was obtained in electronic format directly from the USFTO web site at CC sequate uspro-gov/psipsbIDEntry.html.

    The invention relates to a secreted and transmembrane polypeptide, te PRO polypeptide, and the polynucleotide encoding it. The polypeptide useful for detecting PRO polypeptides and for linking a bioactive molecule to a cell expressing the above polypeptides, where the bioac

The bioactive material causes the death of the cell. The polypeptide is useful for identifying agonists or antagonists of the PRO polypeptide, for preparing variants of PRO, as a molecular weight marker for protein electrophoresis purposes and the PRO polymucleotide is useful for recombinantly expressing those markers. The polymucleotide is also useful as a hybridisation probe, in chromosome and gene mapping, in generation of antisense RNA and DNA, in the preparation of PRO polypeptide, for generating transgenic animals or knockout animals which in turn are useful in the development and screening of therapputically useful reagents, to construct hybridisation probes for mapping the gene which encodes PRO and for the genetic analysis of individuals with genetic disorders, in gene therapy, for analysis of individuals with genetic disorders, in gene therapy, for

These are useful in gene therapy, particularly for treating wounds, burns or ulcers, Alzheimer's disease, Huntington's disease, amyotrophic lateral solerosis, autoimmune disorders, cancer or inflammation. The nucleic acids and polypeptides are also useful in diagnostic and research methods. The sequences given in records ABP43544-ABB43989 represent polypeptides encoded by polynucleotides of
